Sir,--

Forwarded.

2. There is no objection to keep breeding bulls and buffaloes in the compound of a Veterinary institution provided that the Association employs a menial to look after the animals, their feeding etc. The Veterinary Assistant in charge can only have a general supervision over the animals in addition to his duties at the institution.

3. The Veterinary Hospital at Mangalore is under the control of the South Kanara District Board and its sanction for keeping the animals in the hospital compound should be obtained by the Association.

Please see L.S.G. Depts. note at page 1 supra and the Taluk Board's Resolution at p 6. C/F Para 12 of B.S.O. 100 24 lays down the conditions for the alienation of state lands for public, religious, educational and other purposes These conditions do not apply to the present case Here it is not proposed to alienate any state land, but it is simply proposed to permit the S Kanara Dist Amusement Assn to build a shed in the hospital compound and to keep its bleeding bulls in the shed under the charge of the hospital veterinary assistant The Assn cannot claim any right to the land and it must be prepared to vacate the land at any time It does not seem necessary to lay down any conditions A draft order permitting the Assn to keep its bulls in the hospital Compound is submitted for appn
